Reflections 2010-2011

Choking in South Central Los Angeles,

A small child in cardiac arrest....

Paramedics rush to the hospital.

Victim is flat lining.

Desperate to save the child, someone takes a chance...

He shouts, "PULL OVER, I SEE IT"!

A plum pit...

He slowly and carefully pulls it out.

"I GOT IT", he yells!

They felt tension, suspense, uncertainty, doubtful, distraught...

They finally arrive at the hospital.

Doctors take over...

The child is resuscitated from apparent death.

There was great happiness and relief.

Together my big brother along with many others saves lives every day.

This day, he saved a child.

I am proud to call him my brother.
